Overview

It's typically illegal to store firearms in a storage unit. Not only are there potential liability issues (not everyone is diligent about gun safety), but it creates all kinds of problems if your storage space goes up for auction. While prohibited items will vary from storage facility to storage facility, here's a list of items you can expect to see on a facility's banned list—regardless of where you rent a self-storage unit. Storage companies often post a list of prohibited items in their Terms of Service documents. You've carefully considered your options, asked yourself the important questions, and now have decided to store your belongings. When you've officially decided on a unit to rent, be sure to look at your.
