YANGON: Under the bright lights of Yangon's exhibition halls, rows of solar panels, inverters, and energy storage systems glint with promise, reflecting China's growing role in Myanmar's quest for reliable electricity. The Myanmar Power and Solar Energy Storage Lighting Expo 2026 opened on Friday. When Thailand cut power supply to Myanmar across its western border this year, it intended to curb online scam centres linked to regional networks trafficking hundreds of thousands of people. However, the move also hit the wider community, pushing hospitals and some offices to install solar panels. "Our new products are felicity lithium batteries, and they are used for two purposes: during power cuts and with solar panels. Our aim in exhibiting here is to raise public awareness about renewable energy, explain its benefits in detail and provide services," a sales manager said. Over 80 companies across the globe showcased hundreds of brands at the four-day event, which began.
